There is going to be a big stir in Germany when the people decide to knock the k, the e, and the li, out of Hohensohn.

Internal trouble in Germany is evidently causing the imperial government much concern at this time. Changes in the cabinet as result of peace efforts would lead Americans to believe that William is looking for a safe landing place since the U. S. soldiers have landed in France. It must not be overlooked that England, France and especially Austria are much interested in peace talk at this time.

We hear the cry of conservation of food stuffs from every quarter, that farmers should raise larger crops, that each property should have a "war" garden large enough to provide for the summer needs of the family. But in what manner has the government given aid to the conservation of various things, especially the use of paper. Each mail brings reports of various governmental departments that is seldom read. Then we have the speeches of the various congressmen, all printed at the expense of the people. All these things look out of harmony with the demands of the government to the public.

VANISH THE TARIFF WARS?

Once the national tariff board seemed a wild dream. How could protection and anti-tariff ever, ever sit around one council table and not hurt inkstands and paste jars?

Post Bellum Adjustments - The war may change all that and likely to abolish also abolish tariff. That is, the tariff we have known so long, speech provoking, soul trying, word juggling, brain puzzling, recently England doubled up import duty and both free traders and protectionists made wry faces. It was a war measure, done to pay a war debt, so who could protest? Undoubtedly the world war will lead to a general adaptation of tariff duties to local conditions when peace comes. Every nation will want revenue, and imports seem to be the simplest and most equitable form of raising it. Some nations will be put in the favored class to repay war friendships, and others will face disabilities to punish war enemies. In the case of the United States, which, it is assumed, will harbor no animosities when it heads the world peace league, its tariff policy must to a great extent be governed by the schemes in force in the nations with whom it would trade. Import duties will be shaped largely by questions of expediency and the fiscal needs of the hour. In other words, there can be no inexorable system, whether free trade or protection. In that day the tariff board will be just like many another government bureau, an expert adjusting machine, unaffected by edicts from the polls.

Now is the hour of the food "fad," with ideas about needless diets, whole wheat, bread, potatoes eaten skins and all, cornmeal products, dried instead of canned fruits and vegetables. It seems that every reformer's day will come if he only has the patience to wait.

France has laid a war tax on "large" department stores. Perhaps this is also a penalty for being too large. Surely the information, "In the west building," the "east building," "central building," "top floor of the annex," makes the weary patron feel like a stranger in a strange town.

A threat to put a crimp in an American's pocketbook causes him to get busy right away. That is why thousands are leaning on their toes or spine handles right now and saying, they never knew what real work was before.

Of course every American ought to sing "The Star Spangled Banner," but the real test of patriotism would fall on those who listen.

Daylight is now superabundant for some people, and it might be well to store the surplus against the next short day period.

No enemy will worry much at the charge of the American automobile corps if every old machine is mobilized.

Certain it is that when we come under the grinding heel of a food dictator there must be some food.

Stop your bad breath with Dr. Miller's Lactative Tablets.

Dream of Wealth Dispelled.

A sad but illuminating commentary on the futility of human hopes when applied to getting rich quick is furnished by an advertisement which recently appeared in one of the San Francisco dailies. Here it is: "I will sell—I have 5,000 shares of a once well-known mining and leasing company; will exchange same for one setting hen and thirteen fresh eggs (Leghorn preferred); only permanent investors need apply. A. J. Moore, Rooms 20-21 Bacon Block, Oakland."

Never Out of Date.

We are inclined to smile at the quaint costumes that our grandparents wore, and at their rather stilted, formal manners. We dispense with a great many things which were considered important a hundred years ago. But patient, plodding perseverance, sticking to a thing till you finish it, is held in as high esteem in the twentieth century as it was in the eighteenth. Industry and patience are never out of date.

Real Cleverness.

Rare Branches.
The thing next in beauty to a tree in full leaf is a tree bare; its every exquisiteness of shape revealed, and its hold on the sky seeming so unspokeably assured; and, more than the beautiful of shape and the outlining on the sky, is the grace of prophecy and promise which every slender twig bears and reveals in its tiny gray buds. —Helen Hunt Jackson.

LESSON FOR JULY 15.
HEZEKIAH, THE FAITHFUL KING.
LESSON TEXT—II Chron. 30:1.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.—Heb. 11:6.
The reformation under Hezekiah is one of the bright and attractive spots in the latter history of the kingdom of Israel. It was a most thorough reformation and God set his seal upon it in many wonderful ways. Teachers ought to give their classes a comprehensive view of all that Hezekiah did, as recorded in II Chron. chapters 29-32.

HEZEKIAH'S PROCLAMATION. (vv. 1-6). The proper introduction to this lesson would be to return to chapter twenty-nine and note the restoration of the worship of Jehovah. How it began in one man's heart, Hezekiah; how he called the people to be clean; (29:15), then called upon a cleansing of the house of God and its restoration (vv. 18, 19). How he called them to renewed sacrifice and worship (vv. 20, 21). The restoration of the sin-offering and of the burnt-offering, and the result of these offerings in the Levitical music and in the worship of the great congregation (29, 28). The sequel of song always follows and accompanies a true revival of religion. Having conceived this restoration of the Lord, Hezekiah reads out this proclamation. "The consecration of the people, as referred in chapter 29, was very complete. (See vv. 31-36.) Hezekiah was a man of deep discernment as well as of true piety. He saw the meaning of the sacrifices of redemption and put the power forward as the very heart-center of the worship of Jehovah. (See vv. 1, 2.) Whoever understands the passover, understands God's way of salvation. (See Exodus 12:13-23; I Cor. 5:7, 8; Rom. 3:25, 26; John 1:29.) Hezekiah did not confine his call to those of Israel alone, but extended it beyond its borders to those of Ephraim, thus manifesting the true missionary spirit. Hezekiah had ample Scriptural warrant keeping this passover out of its regular order (vv. 9-13). God is not a God of time or place. Wherever obedience is possible, whether it be a matter of time or not, God approves. Hezekiah, however, did not act upon his own initiative, but sought counsel. (See v. 2.) The man who is the most clearly led of God is the man who is most eager and anxious to know of God's leading. Other men and will listen most patiently to their counsel. The fact that the people had not "gathered themselves together at Jerusalem" for a long time, might have warranted a further delay. Not so with this enthusiastic young king. He was not bound by precedent, but was anxious to please God.

II. Hezekiah's Exhortation (vv. 7-13). Hezekiah began his exhortation by calling attention to the trespasses of their fathers (v. 7). At the same time he reminds them that if God gave them over to desolation because they themselves were stiff-necked (v. 8) and yielded not themselves unto the Lord to enter his sanctuary, which he had sanctified unto them, they would come under the fierceness of God's wrath, for they had turned from the Lord; they had "trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers." Because of that trespass God had "driven them up to desolation." Literally he had made them "an astonishment." This astonishment and desolation was well known, "as ye see" (v. 7). Anyone with eyes open can see today the desolation of individuals, of families, communities and nations who trespass against God. For a generation we have had the deity of Christ and the inspiration of his Word called into question and that the individual man is the dictator of his own conscience and life, and it is because men have departed from their faithful allegiance to Jesus Christ and fail to obey his command, that we see the strife and desolation of today.

The first departure caused people to be "stiff-necked" and Jehovah is calling them to repentance, but they would not hear (see Ch. 36:13; Ex. 32:9; Rom. 10:21). In place of this "stiff-neckedness" of their hearts Hezekiah entreats them to turn again to the Lord and not to be stiff-necked as were their fathers (v. 8), that if they will turn again unto the Lord (v. 9) they will find compassion so that they shall again enter his gracious and merciful dealings. Having yielded themselves they were to enter into communion with him and "enter into his sanctuary, which he had sanctified forever." They were also to serve him. Most blessed results were to follow for them and for their brethren and their children, but all of this bright prospect is conditioned upon repentance, surrender, communion and service, which is based upon the fact that Jehovah is gracious and merciful" (Ex. 34:6, 7; Ps. 86:15; Jonah 4:2; Mark 7:18). Then, even as now, there were those who would not yield themselves to God's gracious invitation. As the priests passed through the country of Ephraim and Manasse, even unto Beulah, they were "taunted to scorn and some mocked" (v. 10).

GIRLS, WIN A PRIZE TRIP TO WASHINGTON!

AMONG the 500 prize trips offered members of the Boys' and Girls Clubs and Contests conducted by the Ohio State University College of Agriculture, over 200 trips will be offered to the girls. These are the contests which were transferred from the State Board of Agriculture on March 6. They will be carried on in counties having no regularly organized club work. Special interest is developing concerning the trips on account of the attention the girls are giving to food conservation. Special addresses will be given at Washington to the winners by President Wilson and Herbert Hoover, national food dictator.

Arrangements have been made to tour Washington and its vicinity, including historic Mount Vernon. A chance will be afforded to see Congress in session. A corps of specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, who are all well acquainted with the capital, have offered their services as guides.

Visit New York City.

Following the sojourn at the national capital, the trip will be extended to New York city. A boat ride will be taken up the Hudson as far as Grant's tomb, in Central park. A visit will be made to the American Museum of Natural History, to the heart of the business section and to the harbor.

It is planned that each person who goes on the trip will be presented with a guide book specially prepared for the trip. This will furnish explanatory information concerning each point visited and offer an excellent souvenir of the trip.

Girls to Be Chaparoned.

All the girls will be divided into small groups and will be chaperoned by representatives of the College of Agriculture from the time they arrive at Columbus or Pittsburgh until their return. Their parents, however, are invited to accompany them, and may avail themselves of all the courtesies extended to the prize winners.

It is not too late to join the contest, although enrollment should be made at once to make the best use of the instructional material prepared by the specialists of the College of Agriculture.

Help For Contestants.

Any girl in the state between the ages of 10 and 18 years inclusive may enter. Specialists of the College of Agriculture are aiding contestants by giving demonstrations in each county and sending literature and personal letters in answer to questions. Each contestant will exhibit at the county fair, unless otherwise specified, the following things: A loaf of white bread; a pint can each of tomatoes; beans; corn; cherries or plums; pears or peaches; blackberries, raspberries or grapes; two small glasses of jelly; and a small glass of strawberry preserves or rhubarb conserve.

Anyone desiring further information concerning these and the other prize trips which will be offered at the same time to members of clubs conducted by the College of Agriculture should write to W. H. Palmer, State Leader of Boys' and Girls' Clubs, Ohio State University, Columbus, O.

The many friends here of Dr. J. L. Chesnut, who is visiting with his family in Coulterville, Ill., will regret to hear of his condition at this time. The Dr. has not been in good health for several months and the R. P. congregation granted him a vacation in the hope of improving his health. The family drove through to Coulterville, his former pastorate, and while there was taken worse, so much so that a specialist from St. Louis was called. Only the members of his family are permitted to see him.

Supt. J. S. Kimbrough, of the O. S. & O. Home, has been asked for his resignation which will be given. He has been head of the institution for about a year being named under the Willis administration. It is expected that Joseph P. Elton, Democrat, former superintendent, will get the place under Gov. Cox.

NOTICE TO AUTO OWNERS.

A new law governing the lights on automobiles has gone into effect and it falls on the township trustees to see that this law is enforced in the township. Each and every machine must be equipped with dimmers or diffused lens so that the light will not glare. If dimmers are used they must be applied at 700 feet when meeting another machine or other vehicle. At 200 feet the light must not be higher than 3 1/2 feet from the ground and must remain until the vehicle passes. The fine for first offense reaches $25 and the second not to exceed $100.

The new law governing the speed of automobiles is placed at 25 miles an hour on public highways. Violation of auto laws under the new law can result in the license being taken away.

All vehicles on the highway at night must display a light. This does not apply to a wagon loaded with hay or straw. Buggies damaged on the highway without lights become a complete loss to the owner as he cannot recover.

Automobile owners as well as all other persons are urged to recognize the law and assist in keeping within the provisions. Report violations to the trustees or the constables.

By order of
CEDARVILLE TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES.
ANDREW JACKSON, Clerk.

Notice C. A. Kelbie's big July clearance sale in this issue.

NOTICE TO AUTO OWNERS AS TO PARKING AND REGULATIONS IN TOWN.

The new automobile law is now in force and council will insist on a strict observance of the law in the corporation. Each machine must be equipped with dimmers or lenses that will diffuse the light in accordance with the law. Within the village if the diffused lenses is not used each machine must use the dimmer. Each machine must have a tail light and the speed regulations as provided by statute must be observed.

All automobiles must be parked in accordance with the regulations provided by council. It will be unlawful to park autos in front of hitching racks. There will be no parking of machines in the public square or about the fire station in front of Bird's store. All machines must pull to the curb in proper form. Those going north must remain on the east side of Main street, those going south on the west side of the street. All autos must be parked by backing the machine to the curb. In this manner you are ready to leave without causing any confusion.

All automobiles must display the state license.

The new law provides that all vehicles shall be equipped with lights at night. The officers are instructed to see that all vehicles be driven straight up to the racks and not side ways. This will insure hitching space for all.

Tags will be provided with certain regulations printed thereon. If your machine or buggy has been parked wrong you may find a tag tied to it with the check showing wherein you are at fault. The officer will take the number of your machine and keep it on file at the mayor's office. In case it is reported a second time the officer will be expected to file charges.

These rules and laws are no different than what are observed in other towns and cities. The laws are on the statute books and the public can only be protected by their enforcement. Automobile owners should ever keep in mind that violation of these laws can result in your license being revoked.

By order of
Cedarville Village Council,
J. W. Johnson, Clerk.

MAYOR'S NOTICE

To the owners of the lots and lands in the village of Cedarville, Ohio. In compliance with the requirements of Section 1782-A, of the revised statutes I hereby notify the owners of lots and lands in Cedarville to cut and destroy all Canada and common thistles and other noxious weeds growing on any such lots and lands within the corporation, so that they may not mature seeds and spread to adjoining lots.

On failure of any such owner to comply with the law in regard hereto, the town council may employ persons to cut or destroy said noxious weeds and the expense thereof will be a lien on said lots and lands and collected as taxes.

W. P. McLEAN,
Mayor of Village of Cedarville.

BURNELL R. FORD.

One of the most interesting lectures which has ever been heard here will be that given by Burnell R. Ford at the Chautauqua. Mr. Ford is a scientist of established reputation. In his lecture entertainment he uses a large number of experiments which are startling. He produces a lightning storm on the stage, welds metals by electric currents passing through his body, operates a miniature street car by wireless and conducts many other demonstrations of electricity and its uses. Mr. Ford's standing as an inventor is recognized by the United States government, which has made use of his talents as a consulting engineer in defense problems. His lecture-entertainment will be of much more than ordinary interest and of great educational value.

POLICE OF JAPAN.

They Get Little Pay and a Few Gifts For Their Efficient Work.

Though the police of Japan are worse paid than those of any country in the world, they are considered as efficient and faithful as any that can be found, for in that country ability and loyalty to duty are never made too dependent on money.

But this is only one reason for the efficiency of the Japanese police. The other is the fact that the greater part of the police officers belong to the old samurai families, the Junkers of Japan. Who, as a question of principle, despise filthy lucre. The Japanese policeman's only weapon is the sword, and the robbers usually carry the same arm. (The patrolman's pay is $5 to $12.50 a month, and he has to serve ten years at least before reaching the salary maximum. For special expenses he receives a monthly allowance of $3 to $5. Detectives and polyglot policemen who can serve as interpreters receive an additional $2.50 to $5 per month. The average policeman, even if he serves his whole life, never gets beyond the monthly $12.50. His only chance of increase is the capture of a notorious criminal, which earns for him a bonus of $25 to $50.

In the rural districts the discipline is less rigorous, and the policeman is allowed to accept from the farmers gifts in the shape of fruits and vegetables. Sometimes rich people erect at the gates of their estates modest lodges where the policeman can live rent free. Similarly people in the city sometimes offer the policeman some cheap rooms in their houses. Of course in these cases estate and house have a first claim to the officer's protection. His name is placed on the gate or door beneath the name of the landlord, a useful hint for thief and robber.

The sergeant starts with $15 a month and can reach $50. The civil service examinations leading to this much envied post are very rigorous. One often finds among the candidates graduates of the law college of the Imperial university of Tokyo.

After five years' continuous service the policeman has a claim to an allowance amounting to one-half of his regular salary. After fifteen years he receives a pension—Japan Magazine.

Hints at Table.

It was the correct thing in the seventeenth century for men to wear their hats at table. "The Rules of Civility, or Certain Ways of Deportment," published in 1670, gives minute directions. Supposing "a person of quality detains you to dine with him," it is prescribed that "when the person invited is sit he must keep himself covered till the rest sit down and the person of quality has put on his hat. If the person of honor drinks a health to you, you must be sure to be uncovered. If he speaks to you, you must likewise be uncovered till you have answered him. If one rises from the table before the rest he must pull off his hat."

The Mulberry Tree.

Silk is the great industry of northern Italy, and the plains of the quadrilateral are dark with mulberry trees. The mulberry tree is the hardest worked piece of timber in the world. First its leaves are skinned off for the worms to feed on, then the little branches are clipped for the worms to nest in, then the large limbs are cropped for charcoal, and the trunk has not only to produce a new crop of leaves and limbs for next year, but must act as trellis for a grapevine.

Show your head and neck with the Mulberry Tree.
